Criterion wise activities

Curricular Aspects

Initially the syllabus designed by Osmania University was being adopted. Nevertheless, in course of time, all the universities in the state were bound to thoroughly revise the syllabus as a consequence of which a common core syllabus for all the three years of Graduation came into vogue. After being conferred the autonomous on our college, syllabus for the B.Com Course is being prepared and approved by the Board of Studies of the Department. The Faculty members prepare annual academic plans in beginning of academic year which will be regularly scrutinized by the in-charge of the department.

The staff regularly attends orientation courses with a view to upgrading their skills in the changing patterns of the syllabi and the modes of teaching. The faculty members also attend departmental meetings and conferences arranged by the Departments of the nearby Universities where curriculum design is discussed and reviewed.

Apart from teaching the curriculum designed by the university, the department is also imparting training in some additional curricular inputs to bridge the gap between the prescribed syllabi and the latest trends and developments in the subject.

Teaching-Learning & Evaluation

(a) Teaching

The faculty of the department prepares annual academic plan at the beginning of the academic year by dividing the syllabus month-wise and unit-wise to the extent of working days available in each month. Periodical review of the teaching schedule is done at Department level. Teaching synopses are prepared well in advance and teaching diaries are maintained to record the teaching activity of the day. Remedial classes are held and informal counseling is given in addition to assignment to the slow learners to bridge the gap between students of different learning abilities.

To keep pace with the changes in the systems of teaching, the department is practicing some the learner centered teaching methods like question and answer sessions, Quiz competitions, Group discussions in addition to giving assignments, using charts, attending MANA TV classes, etc.

(b)Learning

In order to promote independent skills and research outlook, the faculty takes a keen interest in involving students in study projects and surveys by providing them the primary information necessary. The students periodically submit their study projects and survey reports to the Department as part of their learning process. The department is assigning study projects and survey programmes to brighter students, assignments and seminars to average students, apart from holding remedial classes for slow learners.

The Department is consistently taking required steps for the expansion of general awareness of the subject among the students by providing latest information through news paper clippings, magazines, journals, etc. Extension lectures are arranged every year by inviting professors from universities and other experts from the organizations and institutions concerned. These lectures are ever at the disposal of the students to help them in acquiring latest knowledge.

STUDENT SUPPORT AND PROGRESSION

Ward system is introduced and bio-data of the students is collected in order to identify and find a solution to the problems of the students. Smt J Srivally, sri C Dayakar, sri A Jana Reddy, sri A Shankaraiah, sri N Veeresh and sri K Srinivas are the in-charges of the of BCom General Final Year, BCom Computer Applications Final Year, B.Com IInd Year, B.Com IInd Year Computer Applications, BCom General Ist Year and B.Com Computer Applications Ist Year respectively to maintaining the ward registers.

Assignments and remedial coaching are given to the slow learners. Important questions in each subject are listed out and maintained in the form of question bank. This practice has been in vogue in the Department for the last ten years. The students make use of all these preserved question banks as and when they find it necessary.

The government of Andhra Pradesh is providing scholarships to the economically backward students.

After completion of the program most of the students are joining in the post-graduate and teacher training course and others are taking up self-employment programmmes.
